(Goleta, CA) - The Santa Barbara Airbus has just launched expanded service daily to and from Los Angeles International Airport. The new ‘express’ service will run 18 trips everyday from the South Coast, a 20% increase over its previous schedule.

“It’s never been easier to LAX,” says Airbus CEO Eric Onnen. “For 18 years we offered 14 trips daily and the South Coast has come to rely on that dependable schedule. With the additional trips, now our customers will have even less wait and more convenience to catch a ride.”

During primetime morning hours, this express service will now depart the South Coast every hour for LAX, with return trips weighed heavily for the afternoon crowd returning to the Santa Barbara area. Moreover, getting out of LAX has never been quicker. With the expanded service, Airbus expects to increase ridership from air travelers seeking convenience, comfort and cost savings.

With the summer travel season underway, Airbus felt it was the right time to offer the additional service. Onnen states, “LAX is a key portal to the world. Whether one is travelling for fun and adventure, for business, or to see family and friends, using the Airbus to or from LAX is, in the end, much easier and more affordable than flying out of Santa Barbara and dealing with the added cost and hassles of layovers and connections. So, this summer, relax and enjoy yourself by letting the Airbus Express handle the hassles.”
